Pioneering Sustainability with Softform

We innovate for the champions of athletic culture and lifestyle.

In Eclat, our purpose is to bring new ideas that inspire and endure to the world. And to promote health and well-being. Eclat designs, engineers, and manufactures athletic knitwear materials and garments. We want to be the preferred global partner for material technology and garment solutions.

Amid the pandemic, we embraced a circular mindset and collaborated with like-minded partners. Through upstream cooperation we developed Softform - a revolutionary, inherently soft material. This optimized material serves as a green alternative to peached materials.

Softform offers a lean process with simple solutions, reducing production time and conserving energy by eliminating traditional peaching. With our focus on innovation and technology, our integrated solutions enable seamless production from concept to ready-to-wear. The collection now features various textures, ensuring year-round comfort for sports and daily wear. We invite you to have a try at our booth.
