Vibrant dots, distinctive OKPOLO quality

We blend vibrant colors and cheerful patterns to create unique embroidered designs. These colorful dots are scattered across the surface of the towels, with each dot representing a beautiful moment in life. With four different colors to choose from, you can select the one that brings you joy and vitality.

In our production process, we place special emphasis on quality control of the yarn. We choose premium double-ply yarn as the raw material for our towels, which consists of two single-ply yarns twisted together, offering enhanced strength and durability. This ensures our towels are not only long-lasting but also maintain excellent quality even after extended use and washing.

Beyond yarn inspection, we strictly monitor the entire weaving process. Starting from weaving, we examine the towels' size, density, and evenness to ensure they meet design specifications. Additionally, during the dyeing process, we conduct colorfastness tests to ensure colors remain vibrant without fading, ensuring each towel maintains its lively hues.

The "OKPOLO" brand is founded on the philosophy of "the perfect fusion of quality and design." We firmly believe that quality is the cornerstone of sustainable business growth. Simultaneously, we continuously explore the perfect balance of fashionable design and practicality, crafting high-quality textile products with distinct styles for our customers.
